SYNOPSIS

We've all been there—caught in a moment, a struggle, a relationship that seemed utterly hopeless. This video highlights a football game that was logically devoid of hope, a marriage that was legally divorced and a woman that was literally dead. Three stories of three situations that seemed over, yet the eventual outcome surprised everyone.

It's not the first time. Almost 2,000 years ago, it was the darkest moment the world has ever known. The supposed Savior of the world had died a merciless death. It was literally over. Well, we know the rest of the story. And the miracle of the resurrection reminds us that nothing is beyond repair or beyond saving for God.

DISCUSSION QUESTIONS

- What is something in your past that you believed to be over but God rescued you from?
- What is something that you currently consider over that God may still have plans for?
- What does it say about us when we choose to live in a way that suggests something is beyond repair or beyond saving?
